

Review Updates
Dean, College of Agriculture and Bioresources

October 7, 2024: I am writing with information about the forthcoming review process for the Dean of the College of Agriculture and Bioresources.

Dr. Angela Bedard-Haughn was appointed as Dean in August 2020 and she is now in the penultimate year of her first five-year term. Consistent with University of Saskatchewan's policy and procedures for senior administration reviews, Dr. Bedard-Haughn and I have discussed how the review proceeds, as a strengths-based and respectful process. I am delighted that Dr. Bedard-Haughn has indicated that she wishes to proceed with a review and will consider re-appointment.

My office is in the process of requesting committee members with the intent to begin the review shortly. The Search and Review Procedures for Senior Administrators can be found at <https://governance.usask.ca/documents/governing/search-review.pdf>.

I will continue to keep faculty, staff and students in the College of Agriculture and Bioresources updated as the review proceeds. Details will be posted at <https://leadership.usask.ca/provost/searches-reviews.php>.

If you have questions in the interim, please feel free to contact my office at leadership.search@usask.ca.
